THE COMTE DE CHAMBORD (Henry V of France) was the son of the Duc and Duchesse de Berri. He was born in 1820, seven months after his Father was assassinated. His birth was acclaimed with enormous enthusiasm by the French people, who regarded him as the "Hope of France."

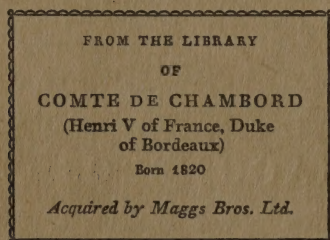

In 1830 his Grand-Father, Charles X, abdicated in his favour, and he was proclaimed King of France.

The Revolutionaries, however, gained the upper hand, and the Bourbons fled to England.

Henry V, then 10 years old, and his Mother were hospitably received by England, and the Government permitted them to reside at Holyrood Palace, which he occupied for some years. He afterwards travelled extensively, and finally settled at Frohsdorf, near Vienna, where he died in 1883.

His grand-nephew, Don Jaime de Bourbon, Duc de Madrid, inherited his estates, and, in addition to being the claimant to the Throne of France, was also the claimant to the Spanish Crown, as the heir of Don Carlos. Don Jaime died in 1931, leaving his sisters heiresses to his property, and from them we have purchased Henry V's extensive library.

Henry V, as a traveller, was deeply interested in contemporary accounts of Adventures in various lands, and it is this English portion of his library which we describe in this catalogue. The books are remarkable for their exceptionally fine condition, and in each we have placed a little printed label giving the provenance, as shown below.
